II. Section-B VERY SHORT QUESTIONS.

4. During the morning walk in a park, Meena's teacher said, "This is the best time to breathe fresh air." Meena wondered what made the air fresher in the morning. Why is the air fresher in the morning, especially near plants and trees?

Answer: In the morning, plants release oxygen through photosynthesis and there is less pollution and dust. This makes the air richer in oxygen and cleaner, which is good for breathing.

5. Why do you think people in rural areas may not have the same access to media as those in cities?

A: Rural areas often lack proper infrastructure, electricity, or internet. Economic differences also make devices like smartphones, newspapers, or TVs less affordable.

III. Section- C Short Answer Based Questions

6. Mirabai, a Rajput princess, left her palace life to sing songs of love for Lord Krishna. Why did Mirabai's devotion create conflict in her royal family, and what does her story teach us about individual freedom in religion?

Ans: Her family opposed her devotion because she broke social norms by mixing with saints and rejecting royal duties. Her story teaches that devotion and faith can be deeply personal, beyond social rules.

7. Describe the atmosphere. Why is it considered essential for living beings?

Ans- Our earth is surrounded by a huge blanket of air called atmosphere.

Importance.

1 All living beings on this earth depend on the atmosphere for their survival.

2 It provides us with the air we breathe and protects us from harmful effects of sun's rays. So, it is this mass of air that has made the temperature on the earth livable.

B) Media takes financial support from big business houses.

C) With this support they keep themselves updated with modern technology.

D) The big business houses give advertisements to the media, which is the main source of income.

E) Media also promotes their products

V. Section-E Source Based Question

9. Read the given source and answer the following questions.

Every Wednesday, a weekly market sets up near Lake Road. People buy vegetables, clothes, and household items at cheap prices because vendors do not have permanent shops. Customers usually bargain to get better rates. For daily needs like milk, bread, and medicines, people visit neighbourhood shops, which provide quick service and sometimes home delivery. Nearby, a shopping complex offers branded products at fixed and higher prices. Although costly, people go there for quality and variety. Thus, people choose different markets depending on price, convenience, and type of goods they need.

A. Why do people prefer to buy goods from the weekly market?

Ans- People prefer the weekly market because goods are available at lower prices, and they can bargain with the sellers. There is also a large variety of everyday items.

B. State two reasons why neighbourhood shops are convenient for customers.

Ans- Neighbourhood shops offer convenience, home delivery, credit facilities, and are open on all days, making them useful for daily needs.

C. How do vendors manage to sell goods at low prices?

Ans- Vendors buy goods from wholesale markets at low rates and sell them with small profits. They also have low setup costs since they use temporary stalls.
