V.Read the source given below and answer the following questions.

The surface of the earth is a complex zone in which three main domains of the environment meet, overlap and interact. The solid portion of the earth on which we live is called the lithosphere. The gaseous layer that surrounds the earth, is the atmosphere, where oxygen, nitrogen, carbon dioxide and other gases are found. Water covers a very big area of the earth's surface and this area is called hydrosphere. The Hydrosphere comprises water in all forms ie. ice, water and water vapours. The biosphere is the narrow zone where we find land, water and air together, which contains all forms of life.

1.Name the four major domains of the earth.

Ans.The four major domains of the earth are lithosphere, hydrosphere, atmosphere and biosphere.

2.Which domain is important for living organisms and why?

Ans.Biosphere is important for living organisms because of the following reasons.

1.It is the only zone where life exists.

2.All the living organisms are interlinked to each other in the biosphere for their survival.

3.Define hydrosphere.

Ans.Water covers a very big area of the earth's surface and this area is called the hydrosphere. It consists of water bodies such as oceans, seas, rivers and lakes etc.
