

BCMSCHOOL, BASANTAVENUE, DUGRI ROAD, LUDHIANA

SOCIAL SCIENCE (087)

CLASS VI

WEBSITE ASSIGNMENT

ANSWER KEY

SECTION A – CHOOSE THE CORRECT OPTION
Q1. b) Latitude and longitude
Q2. c) A is true, but R is false
Q3. c) A is true, but R is false
Q4. b) Unity in diversity means respecting differences while living together peacefully.
SECTION B – VERY SHORT ANSWER
Q5. A continent is a large continuous landmass, while an ocean is a vast body of salt water. • Example of a continent: Asia • Example of an ocean: Pacific Ocean
Q6. Historical sources help us learn about the past by providing information about people, events, places and ways of life. Examples include inscriptions, coins, manuscripts, monuments and artefacts.
SECTION C – SHORT ANSWER
Q7. Any three types of maps: 1. Political maps – Show countries, states, cities and their boundaries. 2. Physical maps – Show natural features such as mountains, rivers, plains and oceans. 3. Thematic maps – Show specific information or themes such as crops, industries, population or climate.
Q8. 1. Primary activity: Growing and harvesting wheat by Ravi's father. 2. Secondary activity: Processing wheat into flour. 3. Tertiary activity: Transporting and selling flour in shops. These activities are connected because the raw material produced through farming is processed into a useful product and then transported and sold to consumers.
SECTION D – LONG ANSWER
Q9. India has a rich tradition of textiles and clothing. 1. Different regions are known for different fabrics, weaving techniques and designs. 2. Cotton, silk, wool and jute are commonly used. Also include Banarasi silk, Kanchipuram silk, Kashmiri wool and Assamese silk. 3. Traditional clothes such as sarees, dhotis, kurtas, salwar-kameez and various regional dresses reflect India's cultural diversity. 4. The textile industry also provides employment to many people.
SECTION E – CASE STUDY
Q10. a) The value highlighted is unity in diversity, along with respect and harmony among people from different backgrounds. b) One example is that some people worked as teachers, while others were shopkeepers, farmers, transport workers or healthcare providers. c) Cooperation is important because it helps family and community members share responsibilities, solve problems, support one another and achieve common goals. It also strengthens relationships and promotes harmony. d) They can respect each other's food traditions by accepting that people have different choices, avoiding criticism, and allowing everyone to follow their own dietary customs.

