Section A: Reading

I Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow:

During a heavy storm one afternoon, Aarav stood near the window, watching the trees away wildly in the wind. As lightning flashed and thunder roared, he noticed a small sparrow struggling to stay on a branch. The bird was wet, trembling, and looked like it might fall any moment.

Instead of flying away in fear, the sparrow adjusted its wings and held tightly to the branch. It waited patiently as the storm passed. Aarav was amazed. That tiny bird had shown more strength than many people he knew. It didn't run; it endured.

Later, Aarav shared the story with his mother, who smiled and said, "Sometimes, nature teaches us what no book can." From that day, whenever Aarav felt upset or scared, he remembered the sparrow. It reminded him that courage isn't about avoiding trouble — it's about facing it with quiet strength.
