ABOUT BCM (BAHADUR CHAND MUNJAL) FOUNDATION

The Bahadur Chand Munjal Charitable Trust was established in 1970 by the visionary entrepreneurs and philanthropists—Mahatma Satyanand Munjal, Shri Brij Mohan Lal Munjal, Shri O.P. Munjal, and Shri Vijay Munjal—sons of the late Lala Bahadur Chand Munjal. The Foundation was founded with the core objective of providing liberal, scientific, and technical education through the establishment of schools and educational institutions, as well as awarding scholarships to deserving students.

The revered trustees of the BCM Foundation recognized the transformative power of education. They believed that intellectual, technical, and - most importantly - social education would help develop the essential traits required for national progress. For the trustees, education was the key to enlightenment and the primary means of securing a respectable standard of living for the Indian people.

In the year 2000, the trust was officially renamed the Bahadur Chand Munjal Foundation. Today, under the exceptional wisdom and leadership of its current trustees, the Foundation manages the following institutions:

MESSAGE FROM THE TRUSTEE, BCM FOUNDATION

Education, in its truest sense, is not merely the pursuit of knowledge; it is the cultivation of character, conscience and the confidence to make a meaningful difference in the world.

The world our children are preparing to enter is changing with unprecedented pace. In such times, education must go beyond academic accomplishment. It must inspire a lifelong curiosity, encourage bold and thoughtful innovation, instil resilience in the face of challenges, and, above all, nurture the wisdom to choose what is right over what is merely possible.

We aspire to create an environment where excellence and empathy coexist, where ambition is tempered by humility, and where achievement is measured not only by success attained, but by lives enriched and communities strengthened.

The legacy of the BCM Foundation is rooted in a profound belief in the transformative power of education. We carry this legacy forward with a renewed vision to provide our students with an education that is contemporary in its outlook yet timeless in its values; progressive in its approach yet firmly grounded in integrity, discipline and respect.

May our students always have the courage to dream, the wisdom to learn, the resilience to persevere and the compassion to contribute. For ultimately, the finest measure of education is not simply what one achieves for oneself, but what one chooses to give back to society.

With my best wishes for a journey of learning, growth and purposeful achievement.

Suresh Chandra Munjal

Trustee, BCM Foundation

FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

The world has changed—and so have the needs of our children. Success in the future will not be defined merely by what students know, but by how well they think, create, collaborate, adapt, and lead with empathy. Along with academic excellence, children need the skills to thrive in a rapidly evolving world of work while nurturing emotional well-being, resilience, and strong human values.

At BCM, we believe that education must prepare children not only for examinations but for life. We are committed to developing balanced individuals who are confident, compassionate, emotionally secure, technologically empowered, and future-ready.

As technology, including Artificial Intelligence, transforms every aspect of our lives, we consciously maintain a thoughtful balance between technology and human intervention. We leverage innovation to make learning more engaging, personalised, and effective, while preserving the irreplaceable role of teachers in inspiring curiosity, fostering meaningful relationships, and shaping character.

Our focus is on creating an environment where academic excellence goes hand in hand with creativity, critical thinking, communication, collaboration, ethical values, and emotional well-being. We strive to ensure that every child develops the confidence, competence, and compassion needed to flourish in an ever-changing world.

At BCM, we are not just preparing students for the future—we are empowering them to shape it with wisdom, purpose, and humanity.
